Professional Expertise

A native of Oklahoma City, Allan specializes in industrial real estate, concentrating on the acquisition/disposition of manufacturing plants, warehouse-distribution centers, investment properties as well as tenant representation. This activity involves consulting in addition to the development and execution of individualized marketing programs and development services for new construction projects. He provides his clients with the benefit of analyzing their alternatives as they relate to the area's real estate market while maintaining constant touch with national trends. He currently oversees the industrial division of the firm.
